Estes Got No Agri Favors, Freeman Vows

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said today the Billie Sol Estes case and its connection with his department is being "ballooned all out of proportion" to its importance.

He told a news conference that, despite all that had been written and said about the case, the facts still point to this:

Three department employees have been accused of receiving gifts from Estes, West Texas financier under fraud indictment, but that Estes got no favors in turn from the department.

Freeman said the manner in which the department has handled the controversial cotton acreage allotments held by Estes has been such that Estes might well complain that he "has been sharply dealt with."

There have been demands from Republican Congress members for a sweeping investigation of Estes' relations with the Agriculture Department.

Estes, at 37, had built a West Texas business empire involving huge cotton holdings and storage of government grain.

Last month, he was indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of fraud which alleged he sold chattel mortgages on nonexistent fertilizer tanks.

The indictment focused further inquiry into Estes' activities, particularly his dealings under Agriculture Department programs for cotton acreage allotments and for storage of government-owned surplus grain in Estes-owned elevators.

Accusations have been made that Estes received favored treatment in return for alleged gifts of clothing to some department officials.

The department said there has been no evidence that Estes received any favors.

Republican leaders in Congress have called for a full-scale investigation of Estes' relationship with the department. Freeman has called this a "GOP attempt to hurt administration efforts to get new farm legislation."

The Estes case has brought the resignation of Emory E. Jacobs, deputy administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, and the discharge of William Morris, an assistant to former Assistant Secretary James T. Ralph. Their names were mentioned in testimony about Estes' clothing gifts. Ralph's name also came up in the testimony. He has denied receiving any gifts from Estes.

Magnolia Negro Youth Drowned

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP)—Jodie Evans, a 17-year-old Negro boy, drowned in Nation Creek on the Calhoun Road at the city limits here Sunday night.

Police officers said Evans apparently went for a swim, but they said they did not know why he drowned.

Police said a rescue squad recovered the body in about 11 feet of water, some 10 feet from the bank of the creek.

Osceola Has a Plant Dedication

OSCEOLA, Ark. (AP)—Osceola citizens and visiting dignitaries, including "Miss Universe" will devote the day here today to dedication of the $3 million American Greeting Cards Corp. factory.

The all-day celebration marking the event will include a parade, open house and speeches.

The plant, built by the city of Osceola, will eventually employ some 700 workers turning out gift wrapping paper, ribbon and greeting cards. The firm, one of the largest of its kind in the world, has eight plants in the Cleveland, Ohio area and turns out three million greeting cards a day.

It put about $1 million into the Osceola facility.

Marlene Schmidt of Germany, "Miss Universe," will star in the morning parade and later will welcome guests of the plant at an open house. Among guests at the ceremonies will be Gov. Orval E. Faubus, Sen. John McClellan and J. William Fulbright and Rep. E. C. Gathings, D-Ark.

The city of Osceola, the Osceola Industrial Development Commission and the Chamber of Commerce are co-sponsors with American Greeting Card Corp. of the dedication.

3 Houses Involved in One Fire

Firemen had a fairly busy weekend, answering three calls, one involving three houses. At 1116 Hickory at 4:40 Sunday a house filled with hay caught fire and spread to two others.

The home of Robert Gamble was destroyed as was the house containing hay. The blaze spread to a third home but it was only partially burned, Firemen said.

Yesterday on Short Shaver St. wiring caught fire in an auto but only minor damage resulted. Firemen reported. Late Friday a small outbuilding on North Hazel was destroyed by fire. Firemen kept the blaze from spreading to other buildings.

Congress Is Moving at Slow Pace

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—Statistically at least, the second session of the 87th Congress is moving at a snail's pace. This week's program in the Senate and the House indicates little concern about the situation.

Congressional leaders apparently have given up hope for an early election-year adjournment and some of them are reconciled to a late summer or fall session following a midsummer vacation.

A handful of relatively non-controversial bills is on the House schedule for the week.

The Senate's main attraction will be an effort to break a filibuster over a voters' literacy test bill, with the showdown slated for Wednesday. The filibuster, now in its third week, has stalled the Senate's legislative machinery.

One major measure may get a big push toward enactment when the House votes Wednesday on a resolution to create a compromise committee to work out differences over a bill to aid higher education. The administration-backed measure has passed the House and the Senate in widely different form but technicalities have kept it out of a Senate-House compromise committee.

For an election year, both branches of Congress have been moving slowly. Up to May 1, only 45 public laws had cleared both branches and been sent to the President. During the 1960 election-year, 417 such laws were enacted.

Even the introduction of bills has slowed down to a trickle. Senators have introduced 165 bills to date and House members 622. In 1960, there were 1,497 Senate and 4,839 House bills offered.

One reason for the slowdown has been the absence of members involved in primary elections. By the end of May, however, most of the primaries will be out of the way and congressional leaders hope for a speed-up in legislation.

Securities Business Under Probe

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first broad public investigation of the securities business since 1934 was launched here today with a promise there would be none of the trappings of a prosecution.

Milton H. Cohen, director of the inquiry being conducted by the Securities and Exchange Commission, said in a prepared statement opening two weeks of public hearings.

"We are here engaged in a special study of securities markets, not in a prosecution or enforcement proceeding against any one or more individuals or firms."

Cohen said the aim would be "to examine the strength and weaknesses of present-day practices and controls" in the industry, to see whether further steps were necessary to protect investors.

The last major inquiry of this kind was conducted in 1933-34 by the Senate Banking Committee and led to the creation of the SEC.

Attention was directed first to day at the qualifications, training, supervision and sales tactics of mutual fund salesmen. Leading the list of industry witnesses were Walter Benedict, president of Investors Planning Corp. of America, and H. L. Hamieson, president of King Merrill & Company, Inc., both of New York City.

Cohen said the schedule "should not be taken to mean that mutual funds or their practices are being singled out for particular attention or criticism."

Brokerage firms will be heard from later. Among those invited to testify are representatives of such firms as Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., and Bache & Company.

Bureau Board Meets Tuesday

The Hempstead County Farm Bureau Board of Directors will meet at the Diamond Cafe Tuesday, May 8 at 7:30 p.m.

County Agent Calvin Caldwell will show a series of colored slides about the activities of the U. of A. These slides were developed in connection with the Land Grant College Centennial Celebration.

Senate Vote Wednesday on Literacy Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first step was taken today toward a Senate vote Wednesday on the question of whether to shut off the Southern talkfest over the literacy test bill. A petition for a limitation on debate was filed, Senate Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., presented the cloture petition with 29 names. A minimum of 16 was necessary.

Names of 19 Democrats and 10 Republicans were on the petition. Under the rules, the cloture vote will come an hour after the Senate convenes Wednesday.

Mansfield said he would ask the Senate to meet at 11 a.m., Wednesday. This would bring the vote by noon.

The Democratic leader declined to make any prediction on the outcome, but most senators expect the cloture vote to be short of the needed two-thirds.

Signing the petition with Mansfield and Dirksen were:

Democrats: John A. Carroll, Colo.; Joseph A. Clark, Pa.; Paul H. Douglas, Ill.; Clair Engle, Calif.; Philip A. Hart, Mich.; Vance Harlike, Ind.; Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn.; Frank J. Lausche, Ohio; Pat McNamara, Mich.; Lee Metcalf, Mont.; Frank E. Moss, Utah; Edmund S. Muskie, Maine; Maurice B. Neuberger, Ore.; John O. Pastore, R.I.; Claiborne Pell, R.I.; Jennings Randolph, W. Va.; Benjamin A. Smith, Mass., and Stephen M. Young, Ohio.

Republicans: Gordon Allott, Colo.; J. Glenn Beall, Md.; Prescott Bush, Conn.; Clifford P. Case, N.J.; Hiram L. Fong, Hawaii; Jacob K. Javits, N.Y.; Kenneth B. Keating, N.Y.; Thomas H. Kuchel, Calif., and Hugh Scott, Pa.

Senate approval of a cloture petition does not immediately halt all debate.

If adopted, it would limit each senator to one hour of debate on the administration-backed proposal to substitute a sixth-grade education for the literacy test which some states require for voting in federal elections.

Sponsors of the sixth-grade requirement contend that some Southern states have used unfair literacy tests to prevent Negroes and others from participating in federal elections.

But a score of Southern senators, led by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., contend the bill is an unconstitutional invasion of a state's right to establish requirements for voting.

Plant Wages in Arkansas Very Low

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The average hourly wage of Arkansas factory workers is about one-fourth less than that paid in three neighboring states, according to a U.S. Labor Department survey.

Arkansas workers earned $1.65 an hour during March, compared to $2.26 in Louisiana, $2.16 in Oklahoma and $2.29 in Texas.

This is 73 cents below the national average of $2.38 and 53 cents less than the average of $2.10 paid in the four states surveyed.

Arkansas was third in the increase in hourly wages during March, at six cents. Louisiana workers gained an increase of 13 cents, Texans of nine and Oklahomans of five cents, the survey showed.

In average weekly earnings, Arkansas ranked fourth. Texas workers earned $94.58, those in Louisiana, $91.98, in Oklahoma, $89.42 and in Arkansas, $86.16.

Arkansas factory workers toiled less hours, however. They worked an average of 40.1 hours a week to 40.7 in Louisiana, 41.4 in Oklahoma and 41.3 in Texas, the survey showed.

Candidates Plan Speaking Engagements

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The first in a long line of speaking engagements was announced Sunday by gubernatorial candidates Sid McMath and Kenneth Coffelt.

The remaining five Democratic candidates, including Gov. Orval E. Faubus, have not announced schedules.

McMath said he has reserved time and paid for five state-wide television broadcasts in June and opening his speaking tour with a night of June 30 and the last for election eve, July 30.

Coffelt said he would formally opening his speaking tour with a radio address June 9 in Conway on the lawn of the Faulkner County courthouse.

The Little Rock lawyer indicated he would make about 175 speaking appearances in behalf of his candidacy for governor before the Democratic primary election July 31.

McMath said Sunday he has scheduled an address for May 17 in Fayetteville—but off the University of Arkansas campus.

The university adopted a ruling recently forbidding use of school facilities for non-academic purposes.

McMath, who said he would speak to university students, invited other gubernatorial candidates to appear with him.

Sub-Launched Missile Drops Right on Target

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Polaris missile fired from a submarine in the Pacific dropped its nuclear warhead "right in the pickle barrel," an informed source said today.

This meant the nuclear-powered submarine Ethan Allen probably placed the warhead within a mile of the intended target in the Pacific nuclear test area.

The Navy said it considered the first full test firing of a Polaris test missile with its warhead a complete success. It declined to give any details.

However, it was learned the missile propelled the warhead close to the full range of nearly 1,400 miles and that it exploded in the air.

The missile was reported to have been fired when the Ethan Allen was submerged.

Officials said the test firing was conducted under as close to combat conditions as possible.

In a war situation, the submarine virtually always would fire its load of 16 Polaris missiles from beneath the surface where it would be safer from enemy attack.

The test involved a first generation Polaris missile. It is propelled by solid fuel. A second generation model now approaching readiness will travel more than 1,700 miles and a still later version will be able to hit targets nearly 2,900 miles from the launching sub.

The test Sunday was the fifth nuclear explosion in Operation Dominic—the series of U.S. atmospheric tests. The four previous shots were dropped from planes.

How far the missile darted over the Pacific or how much wallop it carried was not disclosed. A Polaris has a range of about 1,000 miles and its warhead's explosive power is estimated at about the equivalent of 600,000 tons of TNT.

The joint announcement Sunday by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department said the weapon was triggered at about 6:45 p.m. EST in the Christmas Island testing area.

The missile was launched by the Polaris submarine Ethan Allen and presumably from deep in the ocean but an AEC spokesman declined to confirm this.

The Polaris has been test-fired many times previously but always with a dummy warhead.

The ballistic missile is one of the few pieces of ordnance ever developed by the United States and put in the hands of operating forces without having been given full-scale field tests.

Prior to Sunday, there had been no combined U.S. test of the two major components—the missile and warhead.

A complete, all-out test firing never had been made. A nuclear charge never had been fired in missile trajectory out into space, then plunged back into the heat-generating atmosphere to detonate above or on a target.

Proof testing is one purpose of the nuclear tests which began April 25 in the Pacific.

The 30 or so explosions, it is understood, will include three types of tests—proof, effect and new weapons.

The proof tests will check out nuclear weapons systems the United States has developed but never fired. The effect tests will try to learn what an enemy nuclear explosion would do to U.S. missiles, radar and underground missile sites.

A Poppy Poster Contest Planned

Decidedly Is a Surprise
Derby Winner

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Decidedly, surprise winner of the Kentucky Derby in record time, led the exit from Churchill Downs today amid controversy, almost bitter at times, over the hardness of the track.
Decidedly skimmed over the Downs racing strip Saturday in 2:00 2/5 for 1 1/4 miles, clipping a full second off Whirlaway's standard of 2:01 2/5 that had stood since 1941. Decidedly finished 2 1/4 lengths in front of another surprise, Roman Line, who bent
by a neck in a photo finish.
Leroy Jolley, trainer of the beaten favorite, Riddan, and his father, Moody Jolley, were the most outspoken.
"It was like running over a concrete highway," said Moody, who also is a trainer. "At least five horses broke the record. You can't tell me there were five horses in that race better than Whirlaway." Trainer Ron McAnally, whose Donut King was kept out of the race with a slight ankle injury, said he was glad his horse wasn't in the race.
"It was the hardest track I ever had seen, including the ones in California," he said.
Tom Kelly, apparently none too pleased by the ride given Sunrise County by Willie Shoemaker, took the other side of the controversy.
"The track was O.K. for me," he said. "We came to run on a fast track and we got it." Sunrise County wound up fifth after setting a burning pace of 1:10 1/5
through the first furlongs.
"No horse can go a mile and a quarter after traveling the first quarter in 22 and some change," said Kelly. "He has got to come back." Without saying so, he made it plain that he thought Shoemaker should have held Sunrise
County off the fast early pace.
Wathen Knebelkamp, president of Churchill Downs, declared no special effort was made for the hard track.
"We do not believe in records," said Knebelkamp. "We just want a safe track."
There was no gripe from Horatio Laro, the dashing Argentine who had Decidedly at his peak for the big race. He wasn't even around for the post mortems, leaving for Lexington, Ky., shortly after accepting congratulations.
"Bill (Hartack) followed my instructions to a letter," said Laro via the telephone. "I showed him pictures of how Carry Back came from far back last year and told him over the last 20 years the last quarter-mile of the Derby had been run in around 25 seconds."
Laro said he figured Decidedly could run the last quarter in around 24 seconds. He caught his colt in 24 1/5 seconds as Decidedly moved up from fifth place at the mile, took over third one-eighth of a mile from the finish and then pulled away in the final sixteenth.
When Whirlaway established the old mark he was caught in 23 3/5 seconds for the last quarter. He also was trailing the leaders at that point but went on to score by eight lengths.

Boat Mishap
Claims Four
at the Spa

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A boating mishap on Lake Hamilton Saturday night claimed the lives of four persons — two Hot Springs fathers and their sons — bringing to 14 the number of persons dying violently in Arkansas during the week ended last midnight.
The boating victims were identified as Preston Breshers, 41, his son Wayne, 13, and Clinton Cooper, 30, and his son, Muri, 10.
Bodies of the four were recovered in 12 feet of water about 100 yards from shore.
Officers said the fishing group
included Willie Wallace Breshers, 15, stepson of Preston Breshers, who was pulled from the water unconscious, but lived.
They were setting out trot lines,
officers said, when the boat apparently struck a submerged object and sank west of Point Lookout.
David Winston Futrell of North Little Rock, a University of Arkansas student, died of injuries suffered Sunday in a sports car accident.
Officers said the borrowed sportscar, driven by Futrell, failed on a curve at Fayetteville
and landed in a ditch.
Daniel Monroe, 17, and Phillip Hoard, 18, both of North Little Rock, passengers in the sportscar, escaped serious injury.
During the week, six died in traffic accidents, five drowned,

Five States
Go to Polls
on Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Voters in five states make their choices in party primaries Tuesday involving two governorships, two U.S. Senate seats and 54 House posts.
Elections in Ohio, Florida, Indiana, New Mexico and West Virginia will be spiced with some old familiar political names, and some differences of opinion on how to finance medical care for the aged.
Ohio Republicans will choose between the sons of two late Ohio senators for the nomination for congressman at large. They are Robert Taft Jr., majority leader of the Ohio House and son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, and State Sen. Thomas Lowell Fess, son of the late Sen. Simeon D.
Fess.
On the Democratic side in Ohio, both Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Sen. Frank J. Lausche have opposition but seem assured of renomination. DiSalle is opposed by State Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, Lausche by former labor organizer Albert T. Ball of Cleveland.
John Marshall Briley, Toledo
attorney, and James A. Rhodes, former mayor of Columbus, appear to be the leaders in GOP primaries for senator and governor respectively.
Former Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida, defeated in the 1950 Democratic primary by present incumbent Sen. George A. Smathers, has three opponents in a race for one of Florida's four new house seats. An early New Dealer, he has endorsed the Kennedy administration without reservation.
Smathers also is running, seeking his third term in the Democratic primary with Robert L.
Davis and Douglas R. Voorhees.
Emerson Rupert of St. Petersburg is unopposed for the GOP senatorial nomination.
In four of the six Democratic House primaries in Florida, the President's Social Security plan for financing health care for the aged is an issue.
Another gubernatorial contest is in New Mexico where four Democrats seek the nod to challenge Republican Gov. Edwin L.
Mechem, unopposed in his bid for a fifth-term nomination.
Indiana has only a congressional primary this year and all 11 incumbents—four Democrats and seven Republicans—appear to be safe bets for renomination.
West Virginia also chooses only congressional nominees. The only incumbents with opposition are Rep. Ken Hechler and Rep. Elizabeth Kees, both Democrats.

Man Kills His Children,
Wife, Self

ZION, Ill. (AP) — A former mental patient brought his five children home from church Sunday, slashed them and his ex-wife to death, and waited until police found the carnage, then killed himself.
Police said Rolland Bauer, 31,
a factory worker and electrician,
slew his former wife, Alice Jean, 26, and their three sons and two daughters by slitting their throats with a butcher knife.
Police Chief Robert J. Corder said he understood that Mrs. Bauer, who was divorced in April 1961, was seeing another man and had hopes of marriage.
The Rev. Clarence E. Fast,
pastor of the Grace Missionary Church in Zion, said he saw Bauer and the five youngsters in church. The clergyman said Bauer had been despondent recently.
The Rev. Dr. Fast said Bauer, a gun fancier, had wanted a reconciliation with his former wife, but apparently had not been successful.
The bodies of Mrs. Bauer and the children were found in the bloodied bedroom of an apartment
they shared in Zion, a community of about 11,000 some 40 miles north of Chicago. The butcher knife apparently used in the slayings was found in the kitchen of the basement apartment, police said.
Bauer, who lived near his family after the divorce, died in a car parked across the street from the slaying scene. He shot himself in the head with a .357 magnum revolver as a policeman approached his car.
Deputy Coroner Robert H. Bab-cox said it appeared that Mrs.
Bauer and the youngsters had been dead three or four hours before their bodies were discovered by Bauer's brother, Richard, 34,
and Edward Pincombe, Mrs.
Bauer's father.
The dead children were: Rolland Jack Jr., 9; Beverly, 7; Barbara Jo, 6; Ralph J., 4, and Robbin-Jay, 2 1/2.

Reds Warned
Allies Not Divided

By EUGENE LEVIN
ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Soviet Union today had a clear warning that the Western allies, although divided on some lesser issues, remain united in their determination to defend their freedom by nuclear weapons if necessary.
The 15 member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, winding up a four-day strategy review that produced some disagreements on Berlin and nuclear policy, reaffirmed in their summing-up communiqué:
"The purpose of NATO is defense, and it must be clear that in case of attack (NATO) will defend its members by all necessary means."
Backing up this pledge was a U.S. commitment of five nuclear-armed Polaris submarines to the technical command of NATO.
Foreign and defense ministers of the NATO powers ended the review Sunday. Their meetings had been marked by sharp and pointed words. The final communiqué reflected some of the debate.
Conference spokesmen had reported that the ministers generally approved Washington's current efforts to sound out the prospects of a Berlin agreement with the Russians. But the communiqué said only that the ministers took note of the U.S.-Soviet exploratory talks. This noncommittal wording was due to French reservations about the value of such talks.
On nuclear policy, the commu-iqué said it had "been decided to set up special procedures which will enable all members of the alliance to exchange information concerning the role of nuclear weapons in NATO defense."
This meant acceptance of a U.S.
proposal for greater consultation on the use of nuclear weapons so that America's allies can better understand the destructiveness and consequences of nuclear war.

The new procedure will enable NATO nations to see comprehensive American nuclear studies previously classified as top secret.
Actual bomb-making techniques
still will be withheld.
Informed sources said this U.S. initiative stems from the Kennedy administration's belief that the tactical use of nuclear weapons would almost certainly set off a general nuclear war. The Americans feel that conventional infantry, armor and artillery are needed more than ever, and they hope information on the horrors of the nuclear alternative will spur the allies to speed up fulfillment of their conventional arms commitments.
The proposal for an independent NATO nuclear force was pushed into the background.
The communiqué again proclaimed NATO's determination to keep open the access routes to West Berlin and to maintain the "Western presence" in the former German capital.

Is Early Marriage a Blight or Blessing?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Every now and then I see a letter in your column from some young man who is in a quandary about to marry—or wait. He and the girl of his dreams are still in college. Ahead of him is service in the Army and after that, the problem of being well enough established in business to support a wife. The girl urges him to marry now, he hesitates. You advise them to take a chance.

In one column you cited a similar case known to you, which had worked out happily. Under the circumstances, I would advise the young man roughly this way: if your girl won't wait till you finish college and if you're not blessed with a sufficient income to support a family, then she doesn't love you. All she wants is the glamor of a wedding and the independence of marriage. I say, find yourself a girl who will wait.

Broken hearts mend. Six months ago I found myself in just such a situation. My girl, with whom I was deeply in love, and still am—wanted to marry. Both of us faced a year more of college and university. I intended to go on to theological seminary, a three-year course. She planned to enroll in graduate school for an M.A. in teaching. Neither of us had any income besides what our parents gave us, nor were we willing to ask them to sacrifice more, so that we might selfishly set up our own establishment.

The prospect of living with one or the other set of parents was not to our liking for we had seen the inevitable disaster which resulted when friends did so. After a month and a half of emotional strain that summer, we evolved a compromise: date two or three times a month, keep in touch by bi-weekly telephone calls but also go out with others and try to avoid emotional involvement, until we complete our formal education and are in position to finance a marriage. It isn't the perfect solution but I think (my girl isn't so sure) that it is better than sacrificing one or another's education. Perhaps you feel our solution is wrong. If so, we would be most interesting in having your advice. If not—please don't advocate early marriages. —R

Dear R.: I would like to correct you on one point. I am not an advocate of early marriages for emotionally undeveloped teens. Such a marriage is bound to crack up for the simple reason that these youngsters are attempting to live as adults though possessing a child's limited emotional equipment. But, you and your girl are evidently mature—else you wouldn't reason as you do. Carry that reasoning a step further. If you are truly in love, your one desire will be to help the other. This being the case, wouldn't a wife who loves you—and whom you love, be like your other self—ever on the alert to encourage you to do your very best? I realize much depends upon the boy and the girl. Such a step naturally requires courage, ability and daring. People either possess these qualities or do not. Those who play it safe either don't or aren't in love!

Dear Helen: Is there any kind of job for a 13-year-old girl? My afternoons are idle. Boys work newspaper routes, cut lawns and help in grocery stores, but who ever heard of girls being hired for such jobs? All we can do is baby-sit once in awhile for 30 cents an hour. Now there are so many girls my age who will baby-sit that we outnumber the babies. Surely there must be something for us to busy ourselves with. —"How."

Dear "How": When I was your age I walked dogs, made candy and colored photographs for pin money. It all came about naturally. An old lady who lived in our apartment house heard through the building superintendent that I loved animals. Her little bull-dog needed exercising. After introducing us, to make certain the dog liked me and I him, she offered me 50 cents an hour to walk him. It was great fun for both of us. The candy orders I got through making fudge for our church bazaar. Our neighborhood photographer, seeing some picture postcards I had colored, tried me out on photographs of animals, his specialty being outdoor horse, dog and stock shows. Since such shows jibed with summer vacation, this worked out well. In all three instances I was doing what I enjoyed doing. That, I think, was the secret of my small successes. So, first decide what you like to do then learn to do it well enough to make it commercially profitable.

Dear Helen: I am still in love with the boy friend I've been dating off and on for eight years. Seeing that we were getting nowhere, I broke off. Now, I want him so much it hurts.

I can't sleep and when I go to work (I'm a commercial artist) draw his face instead of drawing what I get paid to do. Yesterday my boss bawled me out for this. How can I get back to normal? —Miss Broken-Hearted.

Dear Miss: Know your own mind. Determine what you want, then stick to it. It's a matter of mental discipline. I'd say you were right in the first place; to go with a boy eight years and get nowhere is reason enough for calling it a day. Be strong? When the half gods go, the real ones come.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine care of this newspaper. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Broken Romances."

Press Group Elects New Officers

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Allan Gilbert, managing editor of the Northwest Arkansas Times, Fayetteville, was elected president of the Arkansas Associated Press Association Sunday at the conclusion of a two-day AAPA meeting here.

A. R. Nelson, managing editor of the Arkansas Gazette, Little Rock, was named vice president and chosen to head a News Study Committee.

The AAPA heard an address by Max Harrelson, chief United Nations correspondent for the Associated Press, who said that while the U.N. crisis is receding, the world body is accumulating a monthly deficit of $10 million.

Harrelson, a former Arkansas, observed that acting Secretary-

General U. Thant is "keeping everybody happy" and predicted little problem this fall in filling the five-year secretary's post.

The U.N., Harrelson said, can be used effectively as a propaganda forum by the United States to let new members know we're on their side.

"The most convincing sign to me that the U.N. will survive," the veteran AP newsman said, "is that neither my doctor nor my barber asks me anymore what I will do for a job when the U.N. blows up."

Millard Cope, publisher of the Marshall, Tex., News-Messenger and a member of the AP board of directors, urged a redoubling of effort by the AP toward providing the public with an unbiased news report.

"We must make the public realize that what it is reading with an AP dateline is reliable," Cope said.

GOPs Having 2nd Primary in Arkansas

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — More than 45,000 "Republicans" came out of the woods in 1958 to vote for George Johnson of Greenwood, the GOP candidate against Orval E. Faubus.

These were either full-fledged Republicans who ignored their own primary or disgruntled Democrats who turned to the GOP after Faubus sailed through the Democratic primary.

Johnson got 3,147 primary votes to 1,273 for Donald Layne of Little Rock—a total vote of 4,420. Johnson picked up 50,287 votes in the general election.

Now the Republicans are having another primary—the second in Arkansas history of the party. Willis Harvey Ricketts of Fayetteville is opposing William Howard Sadler of Little Rock for governor.

Political observers will be watching this year's vote closely. A good gauge of party strength will be how many pure Republican votes the GOP has picked up since 1958.

Winthrop Rockefeller, Morrilton multimillionaire who became GOP national committeeman last year, has stumped the state hard promoting the party for the past two years.

This year's primary vote, as compared with the 1958 total, will be the first clear indication of the effectiveness of his work.

Paradoxically, Gov. Orval E. Faubus is glad to see a Republican primary. "I just wish all Republicans would vote in their own primary," he says. "It would save the 35,000 votes. I believe that many Republicans vote against me in the Democratic primary and then support the GOP candidate in November."

The Republicans do not look kindly on primaries. They would prefer to nominate by convention, as they did in years prior to passage of the 1957 compulsory primary law.

Compulsory primary actually is a misnomer. The GOP has to hold a primary only in those counties where it has contested races. A statewide primary is necessary only when there are two or more candidates for a state office.

No statewide primary was held in 1960 since Henry Britt of Hot Springs, who ran for governor, was the only GOP candidate for a statewide post. Primaries were held, however, in northwest Arkansas counties where the GOP has more than passing strength.

General primary rules are set by state law and apply to both parties. Five election officials must be at each polling place, the vote must be certified by the party's county committee and reported to the county clerk.

The significant difference is in the filing fee. Democrats charge a sliding scale, ranging from $2,500 for U.S. senator, $1,500 for governor, $600 for attorney general and $500 for other state offices down to $250 for lieutenant governor.

Republicans charge $37.50 for the Senate and governor and $1 a county for district races.

Why the difference? Each party is charged with paying for its own primary. Democrats raise the funds by assessing the candidates. Republicans use other methods.

The county party organization actually organizes and pays for the primary. In some counties, where only one GOP box is placed, cost could run slightly over $25-$5 each for the five officials — and a few dollars for printing ballots.

Cost of a statewide GOP primary is estimated at $5,000, based on about 150 boxes used in 1958.

By comparison, the Democrats have more than 22,000 boxes. At $25 a box minimum, plus printing, the statewide cost would be a minimum of $33,000.

In Pulaski County, for example, the Republicans had 10 boxes in 1958 and the Democrats had more than 90.

This year will furnish a valid comparison with 1958 since 1962, like 1958, is not a presidential election year.

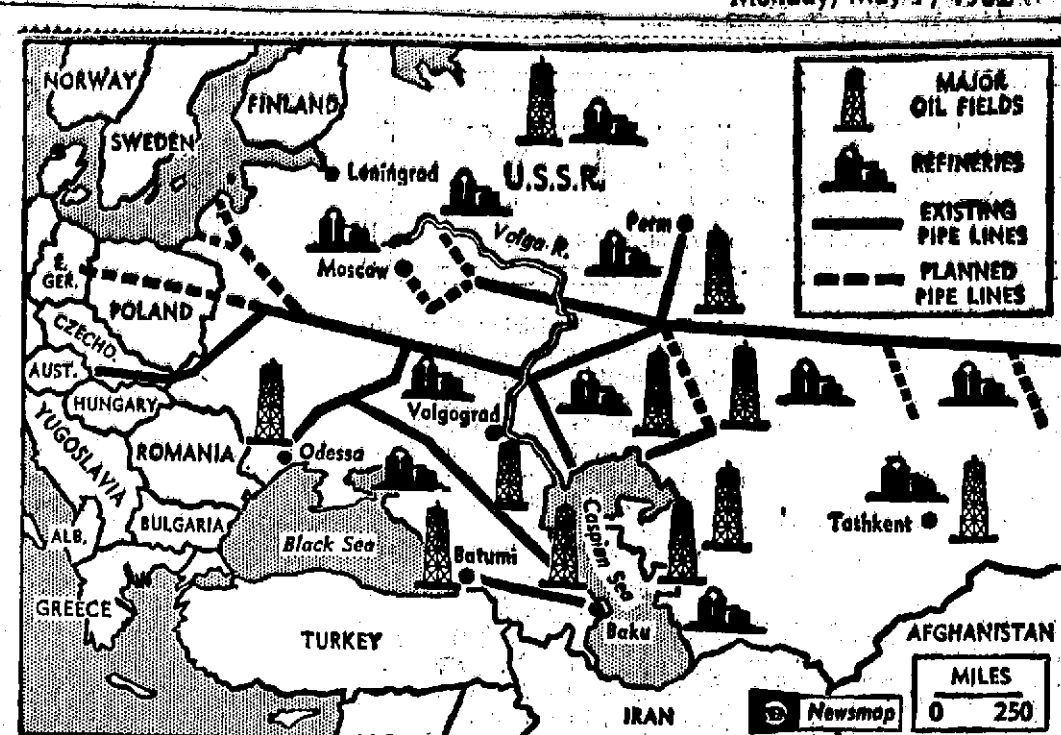

The GOP vote in the general election always soars in a presidential year. So, for that matter, does the Democratic vote, though not by the same proportion.

Faubus got 232,004 general election votes in 1962, compared to 236,598 in 1958. But Britt polled 129,921, a 160 per cent increase over Johnson's 1958 vote.

Britt carried Washington County and tied Faubus in Boone County. Britt's success in Washington County gave birth to a party boom there.

This year, in addition to a gubernatorial candidate, the Republicans have an opponent for Sen. J. W. Fulbright (in the event he wins the Democratic nomination) and foes for Rep. J. W. Trimble in the 3rd Congressional District and Oren Harris in the 4th District.

Rockefeller has promised to work for all Republican candidates as he did for Britt in 1960. Republicans and independents—and some of the more wary Democrats—will be watching developments with interest.

OIL AND IDEOLOGY—In the 1930s, Stalin exported wheat to finance the industrialization of Russia. Today, Khrushchev is depending greatly on oil to accomplish the final goal of making Russia the greatest industrial nation on earth. Newmap shows new pipeline being pushed into Eastern Europe from the rich fields of the U.S.S.R. Russian practice of undercutting world prices (making up the difference with high prices to the satellites) is causing Western producers concern. Soviet oil production has tripled since 1953 and ranks second only to the U.S. Since then, exports to the West have increased from 35,000 barrels a day to nearly 500,000. Goal is 750,000 barrels a day by 1965.

THE STORY: When Rick Jackson says he doesn't know about a mysterious "something" that the missing Carla DiMucci was supposed to have given him, Marty Menken shoots him, but the small-calibre bullet only knocks him out. Again he is questioned by police.

Chapter 7

When the doctor came at nine I convinced him that my quiet way of life would do nothing to irritate an adequately cleansed and sterilized scalp wound, and that the possible spawning of my pair of blue discs was more important than another day in bed. At a little after 11 they let me out of the hospital, and I took a taxi back to the shop, looking only a little like Van Gogh's self-portrait after he had cut his own ear off.

Wolf was down in the shop with us and Hilda said Tina and Holmes were fine, although she had had a time getting Tina back in her cage.

More because I didn't feel like climbing the stairs than anything else, I sat down to attend to the mail. I separated the bills I could pay from the ones that would have to wait until next month, before I got around to the packages. The TFH books and the air pump which had been out for warranty service were expected items. The third parcel was not.

It was addressed in pencil, with crudely blocked letters such as a child might use. It had no return address. Although it was larger than a pound package of butter, it weighed practically nothing.

Why should it have weighed much? Did Cinderella's single slipper weigh any more? "Cinderella," I whispered, "go home, go home!"

I held a single, clear plastic slipper with a thin, flat heel and only the lightest, fairy-touched glimmer of decoration, a wisp of the shoe which had held a frightened girl; and I had been too foolish to see.

I turned the brown paper inside out, searched into the toe of the shoe, and there was nothing, absolutely nothing but the certainty that this had been hers and that I would know it because of a moment of fantasy only the night before last.

"Jackson," I said, "you're a fat-headed fool!"

"Yes, Mr. Jackson!"

"It's nothing, Hilda." I had not realized I had spoken aloud. I wrapped the shoe carefully. This was something for Geiser and Haggopian, for the FBI.

Carla DiMucci was missing. I had washed her empty glass. I had her empty shoe. Carla DiMucci was alive.

M&M Provide Homers But Yankees Split

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was the home business of the same old stand for baseball's most prolific one-two punch.

New York's Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, the Yankees' famed M and M boys, put on their most awesome power display of the season Sunday as the American League leaders split a double header with Washington.

They hit back to back home runs in the first inning of the second game and finished the long afternoon with a total of seven hits, six runs, two doubles, four home runs, seven runs batted in and 21 total bases. Maris also chipped in with a fantastic, leaping catch that robbed the Senators' Ken Ritzler of a homer in the first game.

It wasn't enough to make it a sweep, however, as the Senators came up with a three-run burst in the eighth inning of the opener and won it 4-2. The Yanks romped 8-0 in the nightcap.

The split cut the Yanks' lead to 1½ games over Cleveland and Minnesota, winners of single games. Cleveland beat Kansas City 5-1 and Bernie Allen's ninth-inning homer brought Minnesota a 10-7 victory over Detroit. Chicago and Boston split, the Red Sox winning the first 3-2, the White Sox the second 5-3. Los Angeles bombed Baltimore 15-7.

In the National League, San Francisco beat Chicago 7-3; St. Louis and Cincinnati divided two, the Redlegs winning the first 3-1 and the Cards the second 2-0. Milwaukee edged Houston 3-2 in the first of two, but the Colts got the second 9-1. The New York Mets outlasted Philadelphia 7-5 in 12 innings in the first of a scheduled double header, but the second was postponed by curfew; and Los Angeles at Pittsburgh was postponed by rain.

A three-run rally in the eighth, featuring Gene Woodling's pinch hit homer, Jimmy Piersall's double, an error and two sacrifices, allowed Washington's Dave Stenhouse to win his first big league start in the opener. Rookie Jim Bouton shut out the Senators on seven hits in the second.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant, on a week-end pass from the Army, shut out Kansas City on three hits for six innings, before giving way to Sam McDowell and Bob Allen. A three-run homer by Willie Kirkland was the key blow as the Indians handed Norm Bass his fourth straight loss.

Allen, a Minnesota rookie batsman from Purdue, slammed a three-run homer into the rightfield bleachers with one out in the bottom of the ninth as Detroit lost its fifth straight.

Chicago veteran Turk Lown struck out three men in a row, chopped off a three-run Boston rally in the ninth, and preserved the White Sox' nightcap victory. The Red Sox had the potential tying run on first with none out when Lown, the fourth Chicago pitcher of the inning, came on to put out the fire and save it for rookie Joel Horlen.

Gary Geiger's first hit of the season off a left-hander drove in the Red Sox winning run in the first game and pinned the loss on Juan Pizarro.

Los Angeles banged out 19 hits off six Baltimore pitchers in their fourth straight victory. Angel hitting heroes included Lee Thomas with four singles, a double and four RBI and Bob Rodgers with two doubles and two singles and three RBI. Brooks Robinson had a grand slam homer for the losers.

Little Rock (AP) — Larry Puckett turned in top times in the 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes Saturday to lead Southwest of Little Rock to victory in the Big 18 junior high school track meet here.

Southwest, with 28 points, far outdistanced second place Fort Smith Ramsey, 16.

David Mumme's 11-foot, 10-inch pole vault effort for North Little Rock easily bettered the state junior high mark of 10 feet 9 inches. John McIntosh of Fort Smith Darby stretched the new high jump mark to an even six feet.

Puckett turned in a 10.7 in the 100, a 23.7 in the 220 and a 52.7 in the 440-yard relay events.

Behind Southwest and Ramsey, in scoring were Little Rock West Side and Fort Smith Darby with 15 points each; Little Rock East Side, 13; North Little Rock Hughes road, 7; Texarkana Jefferson, 4; Blytheville, 3; Little Rock Pulaski Heights, 3; Hot Springs Southwest, 2 and Pine Bluff Woodrow Wilson, 1.

Eudora Wins Class A at A&M Meet

MONTICELLO, Ark. (AP) — Eudora won the Class A division of the Arkansas A&M district track meet here Saturday, but Warren stole the show.

Warren bettered two state records and garnered 35 points to sweep the junior division of the Class A section of the meet.

A record time of 37.2 was posted in the 440-yard relay, two seconds faster than the record time posted by Sloan Springs in 1959. The record of 1:39.9 set by Arkadelphia in 1961 in the 880-yard relay was topped by three seconds with a 1:39.6.

Eudora garnered 30½ points to win the senior Class A events and Warren scored 35 to take its division.

Watson claimed the Class B senior division with 41 points and Tiller, also with 41, swept the junior B section.

High point Class A contestant was Tommy Fenny of Star City with 20 points. Johnny Hensberger led in the junior section with 15. Don Allen of Wilnot led Class B senior events with 21 points and Bob Prewitt of Tiller led the junior B division with 20.

Mays, Musical Hit Homers to Lead Victories

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays, the bubbling "Say Hey Kid" of yesterday, is a frisky 31-year-old, leading the major leagues with 10 home runs.

Mays celebrated — and celebrated is the word for it — his birthday Sunday in Chicago with three hits, including a two-run homer, in San Francisco's 7-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Until Willie got hot, critics were comparing him unfavorably with the Giants' "Baby Bull," Orlando Cepeda. On then light of April 27, Mays was hitting a sick 211.

In a rollicking 10-game streak, Willie hammered out 17 hits in 37 trips, hit six homers and drove in 16 runs while traveling at a 459 pace. His average now is a respectable .309.

Sunday was sort of an impromptu oldtimers' day in the National League, a day for the old folks to show the youngsters a thing or two.

Stan Musial, 41, heading down the stretch in his fabulous career, hit a three-run homer that gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 3-0 verdict over Cincinnati after the Reds had beaten them in the opener 5-4. Musial hit his homer in his 2,787th game, a league record.

Warren Spahn, another 41-year-old youngster, boosted his amazing winning total to 312 games by pitching Milwaukee to a 3-2 victory over Houston in the first game. Dick Farrell, relief man turned starter, evened matters for Houston by going the route for a 9-1 decision in the second game.

Gil Hodges, 38, another member of the old folks brigade, came through with a single with the bases loaded in the 12th inning for a 7-5 New York Mets' victory at Philadelphia. A scheduled second game was postponed because of the Sunday curfew which prohibits starting a game in Pennsylvania after 6:40.

After playing an inning at Pittsburgh, the Los Angeles Dodgers and Pirates had to call off their game because of rain.

In the American League, the New York Yankees split two with Washington, losing 4-2 in the opener but winning the second 8-0. Cleveland downed Kansas City 5-1. Minnesota thumped Detroit 10-7. Los Angeles piled it up 15-7 against Baltimore and Chicago beat Boston 5-3 after losing the first game 3-2.

Mays started Billy O'Dell on the way to his fourth straight victory with a two-run homer off loser Bob Buhl in the first.

Musial boosted his average to .375 while increasing his career total to 3,425 hits, only five short of Honus Wagner's league record. Hit No. 3,425 was the three-run homer that broke up a 0-0 battle between Bob Gilson of the Cards and Moe Drabowsky of the Reds. Cincinnati's victory margin in the opener came on a wild pitch by relief man Don Ferrarese.

Spahn gave up eight hits while balancing his season record at 3-3 by beating Jim Golden Del Crandall, Spahn's old battery mate, won the game with a homer in the fourth. Farrell pitched his first complete game in seven seasons in the majors and struck out 11 while throwing a four-hitter at the Braves in the second game.

Hodges' two-run single broke a five-game Phillie winning streak and ended a four-game losing string by the Mets. Although Hodges' hit came off Art Mahafey, the defeat was charged to Jack Baldschun who had loaded the bases on two walks and a single. Craig Anderson was the winner.

The lowest surveyed level in Meramec Caverns, Stanton, Mo., is 4,200 feet.

relieved in the fifth inning. Losing pitcher was Dave Schmelling.

STAN THE RECORD MAN

Aerial Attack May Feature Game Sat.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas football fans can expect to see an aerial attack and a bit of revenge hunting in Little Rock May 12 when the Razorbacks end spring practice with the second Red-White fracas.

The Whites, victorious 14-10 in the first outing with the Reds here Saturday, will strengthen the aerial play that netted them their last-minute victory.

Billy Moore, director of the Red attack who was roughed up a little in sustaining the loss, will be out to humble the Whites.

Coach Frank Broyles, happy with the Saturday showing of the two units, chuckled over the situation and commented, "The blood might flow. We've got something going."

He set up practice sessions for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, but said he doesn't expect too much.

The same squads will go to Little Rock. The same coaches will run each side and they won't be thinking about anything when we break up into group work except that re-match.

The white-suited Porkers, using a three-team system that will be introduced in Little Rock May 12, faced a 10-point deficit in the first half Saturday, but came to life in the third period and moved the ball 66 yards in eight plays to score.

Their chance to win came with four minutes remaining, when Moore fumbled, setting up a touchdown march.

Gordon Guest ended a 57-yard drive, going over the goal from the five-yard line on the 18th play.

Broyles said the three-plateau system used Saturday can't be fully appraised until films are analyzed.

He said Paul Dietzel, the former LSU coach who pioneered the plan, once told him, "You never know how many football players you've got until you play them. Then they fool you."

Likes Playing Baseball on Jap Team

TOKYO (AP) — By his own admission, Jim McManus, formerly of the Kansas City Athletics, never had it so good.

The first baseman from Chestnut Hill, Mass., quit the Pacific Coast League Hawaii Islanders this year to throw in his lot with the Taiyo Whales of Japan's Central League.

Last year the Whales wound up in the cellar. So far this year, they are riding high.

Perhaps McManus has something to do with it. It's too early to say.

But he has made a big hit over here.

PORTSMOUTH, Germany — Gustav (Bubi) Scholz, 171½, Germany, knocked out Neal Rivers, 171, Las Vegas, Nev., (5).

allowed a Japanese team under commission rules.

Asked what he thinks of Japanese players, McManus replied: "They're a lot better than I had expected, especially the pitchers. They have excellent control and seem to work the ball in and out better than back home."

But he finds American and Japanese fans very different.

"Japanese fans," he said, "are very loyal and stay on the side of their team, whether it's first or third base."

Language hasn't presented a problem to him.

"The Whales always have an interpreter for me who explains everything carefully. That's how I learn the signs and my schedule. They couldn't be more considerate."
